

Stéphane Straub, Professor of economics UT1, Director of Arqade

Below is the list of institutions from which I have received, directly or indirectly, fundings of more than 1000€ since 2006 (outside TSE, Université Toulouse 1 Capitole, Ministère de l'Enseignement Supérieur et de la Recherche):

- World Bank: various contracts since 2006, for studies on “Infrastructure and economic growth in the Middle East and North Africa”; “Infrastructure and Growth in Developing Countries: Recent Advances and Research Challenges” (for the WB research committee); “Infrastructure and Development: A Critical Appraisal of the Macro-level Literature”.
- Asian Development Bank: project on the impact of infrastructure on growth in Developing Asia (2010)
- Inter-American Development Bank: project on dissatisfaction with privatization in Latin America (2006)
- Global Development Network: project on governance in the water sector (2008-2009)
- Institut d'Economie Industrielle: within its partnerships with Nokia and Agence Française de Développement (since 2008)
- Copenhagen Consensus Center: project on the long term impact of transport infrastructure on growth (2009-2010)

Finally, in terms of public funding, together with my colleague Emmanuelle Auriol, I received an ANR (Agence Nationale de la Recherche) grant over the period 2009-2012, to work on procurement and rent-seeking in Paraguay.
